

Wildfire Risk Reduction

The Texas A&M Forest Service and the Texas Chapter of the International Society of Arboriculture have developed a Wildfire Risk Reduction Qualification and Tree Wise Men have a Qualified Arborist on staff!

When it comes to wildfire in South Texas it's only a matter of when it will happen, not if it will happen. If you live in the interurban or rural areas of the state, wildfire should be on your radar and in your list of to do's. Fortunately; wildfire is not an unpredictable force of nature that you must accept as a matter of luck or chance. Wildfire is a product of the environment in which your home is built. That environment is growing and changing on a seasonal basis. Trying to manage the larger environment is not within our control; but reducing your exposure to that environment is.

Wildfire risk to your home can be reduced and the first step is getting an assessment. Our Arborist can come to your property for a walkthrough to evaluate and discuss the many factors that can contribute to the unthinkable. Many of those factors can easily be addressed by you with some additional maintenance others may need to be addressed with the help of professionals. You will get the mitigation suggestions that range from reduction of fuels within the landscape to home improvements that will reduce potential ignition sources.

This important program has created a valuable resource of information that can help you to preserve your home and property for many generations to come. Take advantage and call us today!
